Is that my mother's mother? She was Sarah Olive Wright, born Sept 13, 1879, married March 24, 1901 to Donald Paul Hurlburt, Died August 5, 1917 as a pedestrian hit by a car. Her father was George Henry Wright and her mother was Crucy Eliza Elmer who lived in Weybridge where my mother is buried and you visited with me.

Your name, Samuel is frequent in this Wright part of our family history:

Samuel Wright, son of John Wright of Wrightsbridge, County Essex, England came to America prior to 1639 when his name appears on the town records of Springfield, MA as a jurymen.

He had 8 children, the oldest Samuel Wright, was born in England in 1629.

His second child was Joseph Wright whose second child was again Samuel Wright born in 1683. His fourth child was Samuel Wright whose second child was Silas Wright who was born in Amherst, MA but moved to Weybridge, VT and was in state politics.

Another Silas Wright (???how connected) was US Senator and Governor of NY State and had a brother Samuel Wright born in 1785 who married Harriet Jewett who had a daughter Lucretia Wright who had a son Silas Wright Elmer, whose daughter was Crucy E. Elmer. Crucy was my mother's grandmother (her mother's mother) Sarah Olive Wright was the second child of four siblings, the others being boys: George Samuel, Elmer Langdon and Howard Jewett.

There - more than you wanted to know! I obviously am looking at a file - this particular file folder is on the Wright family and is in a file box that is all family history! If you are interested in more, let me know - also may still have some Minter and Wooten things that were kept for you to have eventually - but are not in the same box!

Love you. mother
